The Third Eye and the Eyes of the Heart – A Personal Christian Experience

The Third Eye

In Eastern cultures (like Hinduism and Buddhism), it is said that a person has what is called the "Third Eye" or the "Center of Inner Vision."
It is a symbolic point located between the eyebrows, also called "the inner eye" or "the eye of the soul."

■ It is believed that this eye does not see the material world but sees beyond what is visible: truth, light, the presence of God, or the divine consciousness in man.
■ It is said to open through deep meditation, prayer, inner silence, and repentance from attachment to the outer world.
■ In ancient philosophy, the opening of the "Third Eye" means seeing the truth as it really is, not as the body sees it.

But this idea is symbolic, not physical — there is no real eye in the forehead, but it is an image of the awareness of the soul.

_____

✝■ Secondly: From the Christian Point of View

In Christianity, we do not use the term "third eye," because its roots are not biblical, but the essence of the idea is close to what the Bible calls "the eyes of the heart" or "inner enlightenment."

■ As the Apostle Paul says:

"The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that you may know what is the hope of His calling." (Ephesians 1:18)

Here he speaks about the eyes of the mind or the heart — the spiritual insight given by the Holy Spirit.
It is not a physical eye but a power of spiritual discernment, to see things in the light of God.
Its purpose is purely salvific, to prepare for the judgment and the Second Coming of Christ, and to fulfill it here on earth through steps of holiness to achieve its first and essential goal.

■ A true Christian does not seek to "open a third eye," but if it happens as a personal experience through the rising of body energy, or it opens beyond one's will, then there are steps that must be followed literally.

After the opening of the third eye, God opens the eyes of his heart to see truth, love, and the light in Christ — which you will embody through holiness, morality, and becoming like Christ in faith, holiness, light, goodness, and truth.
■ The light that appears when the third eye opens comes from within the body, and also from the Holy Spirit who enlightens the soul.

_____

Steps and Experiences

First:
You must immediately turn to Christ, speak with Him in your heart, and ask for His guidance and help, that He may show you the true path you must follow.

Second:
Read the Bible directly, especially the Psalms — particularly Psalm 91 and Psalm 23.
Even if you are a Muslim, you must turn to Christ, because inner enlightenment happens when the third eye is opened, and He is the spiritual leader and the main foundation in this matter.

Third:
Never fear the dreams or the monsters you may see in sleep.
These are trials from Satan to turn you away from your light.
Even if you are attacked by unclean spirits, these are tests, but you must stand firm in faith, goodness, and the light that you carry.
Christ is the Rock and the main foundation to accomplish the divine and salvific purpose of this experience.

Fourth:
Be fully committed to prayer, holiness, and firm faith that through you — through the third eye — you have become one with Christ.
You must walk with Him in the path of salvation until the end, because through you, Christ will manifest Himself in your person.
If you endure to the end, the Second Coming will be fulfilled, and the powers of evil will be destroyed, and the final Kingdom of God will come.

Always remember: you are a bearer of the light.
If you remain in faith, goodness, and righteousness, you must follow the full path of holiness.
To become a saint means to stay away from sin, and if you sin, you must repent and confess before Jesus for the forgiveness of sins.

Fifth:
Stay awake — and I emphasize after midnight.
If you can pray, that is even better.
It is very important to overcome sleepiness and bodily desires, and to be sanctified in thought,

word, deed, and soul —
even if the trial is strong or there is a spiritual sickness — it can be overcome by prayer, faith, and listening to the Psalms.
By listening to specific Psalms according to the spiritual illness one has, healing can come.

Do not stay in bed after midnight; stay awake and keep watch, for heavenly missions are done during that time, aiming to defeat evil eternally.

Never talk to unseen entities.
Never weaken, give up, or turn away from holiness or the light, for evil is a short road — and light is stronger.

If your third eye has been opened, then in heaven you already have a heavenly form similar to yourself.
There are angels of protection assigned to you, even if you do not see them in dreams.
I have seen them in visions, and they gave me a message — to complete the mission entrusted to me, for usually, if the third eye has been opened, you are sent on a salvific mission.

Sixth:
When the third eye is opened, you become divine in nature.
Whatever you ask for will be fulfilled — especially if there is a hidden mystery or danger — you can ask in the name of Jesus or in the name of the Divine, and it will be done.
You are honored and blessed in the heavens.

Always remember the salvific goal and to work with Christ and for Christ to accomplish the Second Coming and complete it.

It is possible that Christ may manifest through your body to accomplish this — you must ask for it and never retreat.
Offer yourself as a living sacrifice for Christ if your highest goal is to destroy evil and the Evil One and all works of darkness completely.

Offering yourself as a living sacrifice for eternal life and for Jesus the Savior is one of the greatest goals that can be followed — if there is truly light, truth, and a salvific purpose within you, carried since birth until the opening of the third eye.

Please, in Christ, never lose hope — no matter how hard the trials, afflictions, or reasons.
Do not hesitate to ask for the help of the Holy Spirit and to be filled with the Holy Spirit.
Goodness and truth always win.
And Christ will never abandon or lead into temptation those who turn to Him.